

Aalto University participates in European Academic Heritage Day 18.11.2011

by opening a permanent exhibition on the cultural heritage of Helsinki University of Technology

Every year, at November 18, UNIVERSEUM (European Academic Heritage Network) invites universities to commemorate “European Academic Heritage Day”. Across Europe, special exhibitions, conferences and other events celebrate the diversity and richness of university museums, collections, libraries and archives. On this occasion, the small faculty of Industrial History of the School of Engineering in co-operation with the Aalto University heritage team opens a permanent exhibition representing the cultural heritage of former Helsinki University of Technology.

Programme 13.00: Opening ceremony at the first floor of main lobby at Otakaari 1.

Free occasion. We apologize the harm that construction site next door might cause.
